

THE EVENING BULLETIN

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1885.

SHERMAN and Foraker will help Mahone in his fight in Virginia.

SEVENTY-ONE new cases of small-pox were reported at Montreal Monday.

THE Argentine Republic of South America, is cultivating now over 2,500,000 acres of land in wheat. She exported last year more than 5,000,000 bushels.

A HEAVY snow storm occurred at Ispeming, Mich., last Monday. A mail train on the Marquette and Ontonagon railroad was blocked at Summit in that State.

THE importations of coffee at Baltimore for the year ending June 30th, were 72,226,500 pounds, against 39,438,200 pounds for the year preceding. The importations last month amounted to over 6,000,000 pounds.

THE "Mugwumps" aided materially last year in the election of President Cleveland, but they are now doing their best to defeat Hill, the Democratic candidate for Governor of New York. Hill is one of Cleveland's best supporters, too.

THE indications at Washington point to a prosperous period in the country's history, that is not far distant. One of the best indications given is the demand being made from all parts of the country on the Treasury Department for small coin. The demand is said to be similar to what followed the panics of 1873-4 and 1877-8.

MASON COUNTY having determined to present the name of Mr. Jas. H. Sallee as her candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney, he will now enter the contest in earnest. Mr. Sallee is a young lawyer of ability and a gentleman of character, and his selection as Commonwealth's Attorney for this district would be an act that would reflect credit upon the people and insure the faithful discharge of the arduous duties of that office.—[Cincinnati Mercury.]

The Vote of Cincinnati.

The monotony of Republican success in Ohio is relieved by the vote in Hamilton County, of which Cincinnati furnishes the principal part. At the Presidential election of 1880 it gave Garfield a plurality of 5,051. Last year it gave Robinson, Republican Secretary of State, 2,508, and Blaine 5,406. The vote of last Tuesday shows a loss for the Republicans of probably more than 5,000 votes, as compared with 1884. This is the answer which the business men of Cincinnati have given to Mr. Sherman's sectional crusade.

The people of that city invested many millions in a railroad designed to promote trade with the Southern States. Mr. Sherman, Mr. Foraker and the Republican leaders generally distinguished the recent campaign by their bitter assaults on the South and scandalous misrepresentation of the facts.

Marked as this rebuke is, its full force is not exhibited by the returns. Many well-known Democrats, who disapproved Hoadly's, course, who condemned the faction with which he is associated, and who resented the treatment to which Mr. Thurman has been subjected, refused openly to support the nominations. If there had been unity, the majority against Sherman would have been large.

One significant fact is worthy of attention as connected with the result in Hamilton County. In order to propitiate the colored people, and professing at least to give them a semblance of recognition, the Republican managers nominated a negro among their candidates for the Legislature. The rank and file made a point of cutting his name from the regular ticket.

John Sherman's bloody shirt was waved in vain in Cincinnati, at least.—[New York Sun.]

KENTUCKY NEWS.

The Latonia Races at Covington last week are said to have been a financial failure.

The Democratic Primary Election in Scott County will take place the 28th of November.

N. Sageser lost a tobacco barn, valued at $1,000, by fire Sunday night, near Hanly, Jessamine County.

The telephone office in Richmond and its connecting lines have been closed indefinitely.—[Richmond Register.]

Henry J. Diehl, a grocer of Louisville, made an assignment Monday. Assets estimated at $3,000, liabilities at $5,000.

Dr. J. R. Moore, of Bowling Green, one of the oldest physicians in the State, died last Monday at the age of 85 years.

Joseph Stone, of Dry Ridge, Ky., was beaten out of $47 by confidence men at Cincinnati, Monday. He was on his way to Kansas City.

A judgment for $6,700 was rendered by Judge Baxter in the United States Court at Louisville this week against Colonel Wenden O'Neal Ex-United States Marshal.

A. M. Waddell was convicted in the courts of Louisville of running a keno bank and his punishment fixed at a fine of $500 and thirty days confinement in jail.

Mrs. S. J. Turney, of this city, has a plum tree in her yard which has for the second time this year borne plums. It has on it now plums as large as bird eggs.—[Paris Kentuckian.]

VICTOR NEWCOMB.

A Wall Street Speculator Who Has "Met" Jay Gould.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Victor Newcomb, who is just now the most conspicuous of Wall street's bull leaders, is said to have a bone to pick with Jay Gould. Before Gould went west he is said to have been much given to courting the company of Mr. Newcomb, whom it was known was carrying a remarkably well-filled purse, and, as the story goes, Mr. Gould remarked to Mr. Newcomb that there was going to be a vacancy in the Western Union Telegraph company's board of directors, and, whispered Mr. Gould in sweet confidence, how would Mr. Newcomb like to be a Western Union director?

Mr. Gould felt that fresh blood should be injected into the directory and he knew nobody whom he would welcome there so much as Mr. Newcomb. Mr. Newcomb was willing, and when Mr. Newcomb saw that somebody in the stock market seemed willing to sell Western Union, Mr. Newcomb laid hands on a good big pile of it.

Then election day came. Mr. Jay Gould was out west, and Col. Clowry and not Victor Newcomb, was elected to the single vacancy in the board. Mr. Newcomb is said to be pretty thoroughly convinced now that the man who sold the Western Union stock that he bought was none other than the confiding Mr. Jay Gould; therefore Mr. Newcomb is human enough to get somewhat angry. Mr. Gould has been in Wall street for the last two days, but "urgent business" has so far kept the door locked between him and some other people.

THE WALKUP CASE.

The Poison Trial Commenced in Emporia. Testimony of Witnesses.

EMPORIA, Kan., Oct. 22.—The trial of Mrs. Minnie Wallace Walkup for the murder of her husband was begun here before a jury of farmers. The theory of the state, as set forth by County Attorney Feighan, is that Mrs. Walkup married her husband with the intention of poisoning him so as to secure the widow's portion of the estate.

Even Baldwin told how he accompanied Mr. Walkup to New Orleans last December, and there met Miss Wallace, whom Mr. Walkup made his wife. A half dozen witnesses testified to the purchases of dry goods by Mrs. Walkup, testimony that was objected to as irrelevant.

One physician testified that Mrs. Walkup brought a white powder to him for analysis, which was found to be quinine. W. R. Irwin, druggist, testified that Mrs. Walkup tried to purchase fifteen cents worth of strychnine from him on August 14, but as she declined to tell what she wanted it for the poison was not sold to her.

Joseph Murphy, a stationer, heard her say in Irwin's drug store that she had purchased strychnine in Cincinnati but had been given quinine by mistake. Moses H. Bates, a druggist, said the defendant was in his store August 13, to purchase strychnine. As she refused to sign the poison record she did not get the drug.

BRIEF MENTION.

The News Condensed for the Hasty Reader's Perusal.

The Duke of Abercorn is now improving. Miss Minnie Hagk has embarked from England for New York.

Ellen Terry, the actress, who has been ill for the past few days, is considerably improved.

Rev. C. M. Booth, a Baptist evangelist, has been suspended in Springfield, Mass. He confessed that he had gained his appointment through a forged letter.

Jay Gould, Russell Sage and George J. Gould returned from their southwestern trip. They report a fair degree of prosperity and "hopeful feeling."

The English government will prosecute Mr. Pyne, the Parnellite candidate for parliament for Waterford, for a seditious speech recently made at Clonmel.

The Illinois State Synod are wrangling over the temperance question. Scientific temperance education is recommended in all schools supported by the state.

The National congress of prison reform, now in session in Detroit, discussed a number of important questions, in which a reform of prison officials was advocated.

Hon. Malcolm Hay, who was appointed by President Cleveland as First assistant postmaster general, died at Pittsburgh, after an illness of several weeks. He was born in 1842.

The indications are that the coal miners' strike in Pennsylvania is nearing the end, as it seems impossible that the miners can hold out longer. There is much suffering among them.

Rumors are current that M. Waddington has tendered his resignation as French minister to England, owing to a difference with his government in regard to elections in France.

Ex-Governor Washburn was the principal speaker at the Yale alumni meeting, held at Springfield, Mass. He advocated moving with great caution touching the teaching of languages.

President Grevy has accepted the resignations of M. Pierre Le Grand, minister of agriculture, and M. Hervey Marjion, minister of commerce, who failed of re-election to the chamber of deputies.

The relations of Russia and Austria are reported as precarious, and in case of hostilities it is feared that trouble will ensue between those nations. Information from the seat of the trouble in the east is of a conflicting nature. By one correspondent it is declared that Bulgaria and Serbia are uniting against Turkey, though the more reliable account confirms the rumor that the Bulgarian forces are, in reality, moving upon Serbia. The British agent for Bulgaria states that war with Serbia is well nigh inevitable.
